The Old Guard, Sanford's Ginger

With sleepless vigilance SANFORD'S GINGER guards the home against a thousand dangers that live in air, water, food, and climate. New homes found wanting in any element, and hence it has become the most popular home as the realization of all that is preventive and curative in medicine and condiments. Once introduced into the household it can never be displaced. It is its own best advertisement. Thousands say daily, "Use SANFORD'S GINGER. It is the best of all gingers."
Composed of imported grana, citron, nutmegs, and the choicest dried fruits. Fresh Brandy, SAN-FORD'S GINGER is vastly superior to all other gingers, and care should be exercised in purchasing,
lest some cheap, worthless, and often dangerous ginger be substituted. Ask for

FROM LAW TO WAR.

TIMOTHY PENDERGAST'S FIGHT TO RETAIN POSSESSION OF HIS HOME.

Sold Out for Debt He Insists on Collecting Rent From a Tenant of Part of the House—Removed the Stairs—Enjoined by Judge Klein—Court Matters.

TIMOTHY PENDERGAST, a carpenter, living at 231 Adams street, is having a great deal of trouble with the law, which has been set on him, and which he is trying to fight. Pendergast at one time was a successful man and lost his properties, but some time ago he needed money and gave a first and second mortgage on the property. John B. Roeder, the lawyer, held the second one, which fell due a few months ago, and to foreclose he bought up the first mortgage. The foreclosure was made and the property was sold at the east front of the court-house. Roeder bought it at a low figure and with the trustee's deed called on Pendergast and notified him his position had changed from owner to tenant, and hereafter he would have to pay rent. The house is a two-story brick with front and rear entrance. Pendergast occupied the first floor and rented out the second to a man named David Hey. Mr. Roeder called him in and told him he would pay him to rent him out to Pendergast, to which Hey submitted reluctantly.

PENDERGAST WAS DETERMINED.

To fight the law, however, feeling he had not been treated properly in being sold out, and calling on Hey demanded the rent. Hey refused to pay him, saying he recognized Mr. Roeder as his landlord and had paid him some money already. Pendergast became very wrathful and told Hey he would fix him. The first thing he did was to close up the front door through which Hey passed to get upstairs and compelled him to take the back stairs. This did not seem to bother Mr. Hey, so he cut the water-pipe and shut off Hey's water supply. Hey did not want to be disturbed, however, and one morning chopped a step off the back stairs. Mr. Hey and his wife raised a commotion and replaced the step. Hey then got out and the result was that Pendergast had cut out three steps. The atmosphere became very warm in the house, and Hey left. He did not give in. He and his wife climbed down the stair railing to show Pendergast that if anything besides the air connected the upstairs with the ground, he could get up and down. Next morning Hey found

THE BANISTER CHOPPED OFF. leaving the house, and about five feet above the ground. Mrs. Hey could stand it no longer and went to live with her mother. Hey would not be smoked out and took his home with him which he had placed against the house and used in getting to and from his room. Mr. Roeder got a writ of replevin, and sought Mr. Muench of Lubke & Muench and injunction suit was filed. Pendergast was taken into custody, and the question was cause why he should not be enjoined from doing further damage to the property and he could do no cause. Judge Klein said that evening Pendergast would own the property. The courts would be doing him a favor in preventing him from doing damage to another, and he neglected to provide for the effects of the man's destroying another man's belongings.

Judge Klein said that the plaintiff in the case was the defendant and Henry Frederickson is defendant, was entered in the county court.

John McRae, a tramp, was picked up by the police and charged with having further damage and ordered to replace the iron bannisters and connect the water pipe. Failure to obey the order of court means a trial for contempt.

John C. Kline, of the First Presbyterian, is the plaintiff and Henry Frederickson is defendant, was entered in the county court.

There was quite a dispute to-day in reference to the sale of Samos subscriptions and it nearly caused a riot in the courtroom.

On the morning of the trial, Ernest Michaels had sold Benj. Altheimer a subscription of 1,000 shares, where, he says, he was pleased with the condition of affairs.

He was not satisfied with the result, however, and sold the same to another subscriber.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1889.

Subscribers going away from the city during the summer are requested to send notice of the change of address to this office, so that the paper can be sent to them regularly.

Weather forecast for twenty-four hours, commencing at 8 a.m. to-day, for Missouri: Fair; slight changes in temperature; southerly winds.

The people of Arkansas are rallying to the support of St. Louis as the location of the World's Fair. The good work is spreading.

FORTUNE smiles on St. Louis. The Browns lost a game yesterday, but so did the Brooklyns. Luck and good ball playing is hard to beat.

The amount of stock which St. Louis takes in the World's Fair will regulate to a large extent the amount of stock which Congress will take. St. Louis is the location of it.

WHEN Chicago establishes her claim to be the typical American city dog fennel should be adopted as the national flower. They flourish together, and the odors of both are equally displeasing.

How WILL the gold plutocrats and the Wall street contingent of the G. O. P. receive the declaration of MAHONE's Convention in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver? Will they agree to pay the Virginia fiddler for that kind of tune?

NEARLY every citizen of St. Louis can subscribe for one share of World's Fair stock. From this basis, which admits the multitude to a share in the work, the ability of citizens to subscribe ranges upwards to thousands of shares. The duty of each citizen is measured only by his ability.

The representatives of the silver mining industry and kindred interests are giving hearty approval to the plan of holding a National Silver Convention in this city. Favorable reports are being received by the local committee from all parts of the West. The success of the convention may be regarded as assured.

It is a pleasing thought, suggested by the platform of the Virginia Republican Convention, that should the Christian religion be destroyed and all the saints in the calendar be wiped out we should still have BULLY MAHONE to inspire faith in the ultimate redemption of the world from sin and the salvation of mankind.

EVERY State touched by the waters of the Mississippi River should favor the location of the World's Fair in St. Louis as a matter of self-interest. River commerce and the general prosperity of the Mississippi Valley will receive such an impetus from the holding of the Columbian Exposition in this city that their advancement will be pushed forward twenty years.

The gratitude of Missourians for what they have got from the Administration is sadly blighted by disappointment on account of what they haven't got. The list of blasted hopes published in yesterday's Post-Dispatch is appalling. With the same proportion of appointments to dispositions distributed among all the States it is no wonder that the patronage is a source of weakness rather than strength to a party.

The amount of capital stock to be issued for the St. Louis World's Fair corporation has been fixed at $5,000,000. There is no question of the ability of citizens of St.

Louis to guarantee this fund and there is also no question of the necessity of guaranteeing it if St. Louis is to have any chance of securing the great Exposition. Putting one consideration with the other the duty of St. Louisans to subscribe promptly and liberally is manifest.

FIELD AND NAGLE IN COURT.

Some of the newspapers are needlessly excited about an alleged conflict of jurisdiction between Federal and State authority in the criminal prosecutions growing out of the killing of TERRY. There can be no conflict of Federal and State law because one or the other must be void whenever they antagonize each other. Nor is there likely to be any serious conflict of jurisdiction between Federal and State courts growing out of the fact that FIELD and NAGLE were officers of the United States courts.

Having been arrested by State authority these two officers of the United States are brought before a United States Court on a writ of habeas corpus merely to have it decided whether or not they are imprisoned for lawful acts done in pursuance of their official duties. Justice FIELD, who has invoked this Federal Court jurisdiction, delivered a dissenting opinion when the Supreme Court decided that the Federal courts have jurisdiction when for an official act a Federal officer is charged with crime in a State court. But it is immaterial whether FIELD and NAGLE are tried in State or Federal courts, they will all the same be tried under State law and by a jury of the vicinage.

The Federal Court may find, as almost any other court would, that there is no basis for a criminal charge against Justice FIELD and no lawful ground for his detention. His discharge, however, would not prevent his being indicted and tried afterwards.

As for NAGLE, there certainly is ground for holding him and his indictment for homicide in any degree by a State court would simply raise the question whether or not the killing was justified by his official duty as a United States Marshal under the orders of the United States authorities. His right to have the trial of that indictment transferred to the United States Court is provided for by law and if he did not choose to exercise it any unfavorable result of the trial in the State courts could be appealed to the United States Supreme Court. No matter where he is tried it is extremely improbable that he will be found guilty of any serious offense.

MONOPOLY VERSUS COMMON RIGHT. When Russia tried to make a monopoly of the fur seal fishery she failed, because the United States and all other nations objected. They objected although Russia owned both shores and all the islands of that sea, and therefore had a stronger basis for her claim of exclusive jurisdiction than either Russia or the United States now has since they have pretended to divide that sea between them.

Our Government then took strong ground against any monopoly of the right to take seals or fish outside of the three-mile limit in Behring's Sea, and defended the right of any American vessel to fish there for anything worth catching. We floated the pretense that a monopoly would or could protect seal life. But now under this notoriously false and fraudulent pretense of protecting seal life, our Government is not only closing the seal fishery of the high seas against our own citizens, but inuring great expense and liability for heavy damages in pretending to drive out the vessels of other nations, to create a real monopoly for the exclusive benefit of political favorites and contributors to campaign funds.

There is abundance of evidence that this monopoly has neither protected seal life nor confined its killing to the number of animals it could lawfully kill and has paid for. The granting of such a monopoly is as un-American and as violative of common right and public policy as would be a monopoly of the right to take mackerel, cod or other fish on our shores or on the high seas.

The statute forbidding anybody but the Alaska Commercial Co. to kill seals or other fur-bearing animals "in Alaska Territory or in the waters thereof," has not yet been held by our own courts as operative against the taking of seals beyond the three-mile limit by our own citizens. If it cannot stop them, it is no bar to foreign fishermen in the same seas. But it is notorious that we dare not and do not pretend to punish foreign fishermen caught killing seals there and that we cannot enforce this law against them for fishing outside of the three-mile limit, and why should we deprive our own people of a maritime privilege from which we cannot exclude the mariners of other nations?

If the people of Virginia endorse MAHONE and his gang in the coming election, the remnant of faith in the political honesty of "ole Virginny" will be sorely shaken. MAHONE represents political trickery and dishonesty in every form. He gained his power at first by an appeal to the lowest classes of the people through the advocacy of a repudiation speech, and the present truth between the Republican factions in the State is based on greed for spoils and the hope of aid to corrupt the voters. The first duty of Virginians is to strike down MAHONE and all it represents in Virginia politics.

The assurance that capital will be furnished by New Yorkers for the expanded railroad must be counted three-fold in the estimate of benefits to St. Louis. It makes the building of a great improvement in street transportation certain; it is a sound judgment in favor of St. Louis as a magnificent place for profitable investment, and by reason of the millions which it will bring to St. Louis from outside capitalists it guarantees the investment of millions more in St. Louis property. The building of the road will mark a long step to the front for St. Louis.

FIELD and NAGLE are prejudicial to the public interest, and a reflection upon the judiciary of the State of California. It is a well-settled principle of law that United States Courts and Judges have no jurisdiction in criminal cases such as that of Nagle. There should be permitted no interference with the State courts in disposing of his case.

Blaming Scott.

From the Chicago Tribune.

But this much is certain—that the only operator who would make no concession to his men, the only one who insisted on the full 10 cents reduction, was Mr. W. L. Scott, the Pennsylvania Democrat. He sought to block action by the operators by withdrawing from their association and saying that he would deal with his men directly. Having done all the mischief he could he turned his back on Chicago and went home without having said a word to anyone.

Mr. Scott is not lost to sight in Illinois. His influence is certain, for he has bought 60,000 acres of coal lands in this State. He is wealthy and can afford to wait.

Might Promises Again.

From the Kansas City Times.

"When we see our Columbian Exposition fund mounting up into the millions, Mr. Gould may go to work and give us a new Union Depot by 1892," says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

However, just as the chances are that he will be successful in his efforts to get a depot under the conditions named by the Post-Dispatch.

Following Illustrous Precedent.

From the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph.

Billy Mahone has had one of his sons appointed Deputy United States Marshal and another Deputy Internal Revenue Collector by a marshal and collector for whom he secured their offices. Mahone probably intends to keep his son in good humor by making a delicate compliment to President Harrison, who has shown that he considers it the first duty of man to get offices for his kinsfolk.

A Mugwump Grewl.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

President Harrison's decision not to extend the civil service rules to the census clerks, as set forth in our Washington correspondence yesterday, goes ill with his repeated promises to carry out and to extend the application of the reform of the service. Mr. Harrison has yet to take the first step in that direction.

THE SILVER CONVENTION.

From the Rocky Mountain News, Denver, Colo.

At this particular time when the attention of the nation is directed to the restoration of silver and the leading business men of this country must admit its importance bearing upon the prosperity of our people, preventing, as it does, a close money market when the crops are to be moved, it is important that Colorado, the leading State in the silver column, send a strong delegation to the St. Louis convention which, as Hon. John M. S. Edgar of Clear Creek County says, will be national in its scope and character. This is the first time the lead interests of Iowa, Illinois and Missouri, and the newer lead miners of Colorado, Utah, Montana, Idaho and Nevada, will be represented at the meeting.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

From the United States and Latin America.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The approaching conference of the various countries of America, to take place in Washington, D. C., at an early date, prompts me to call your attention to the United States that the commercial relations between this country and the Latin-American republics have thus far been trifling and, by contrast to a mutual and general understanding with the European countries and Central America, we shall cause a revival of business to take place, which will be beneficial to all concerned.

The great bulk of the South and Central American trade has been, for years past, absorbed by European nations in very profitably, and the United States has not established outlets for their products in the direction of foreign countries, they will soon be able to do so.

The expression of Europe as pointed out by recent dispatches to the State Department has been anything but favorable with currency made up exclusively of gold. As the Salt Lake Tribune—a gallant advocate of silver—well says:

"Let the pressure tighten a little more, and under the unbearable torture some one will finally snap a tiny wire and the world will be shocked to learn that we shall feel the evils of complete political atrophy."

That which is wanted is: Quality and price of the products of Europe and Central America, and moderate duties for the exchange of products between the United States and the Latin-American countries.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES.

THE ST. LOUIS BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MEET-ING SEPTEMBER 5.

Laying of the Corner-Stone of the Good Shepherd Chapel at Normandy on Sunday—Feast of St. Leo—St. Leo's Cornerstone Laying—Christian Endeavor
News—Profession at the Loreto Convent.

HE St. Louis Baptist Association will meet at the Carondelet Baptist Church on September 5 and 6. The association is composed of delegates from all the Baptist Church congregations and its object is to promote the interests of the Baptist Church in St.
Louis. Sessions will be held morning, afternoon
and evening, and it is expected that considerable business of importance will be accomplished. The Baptist clergy will attend and assist in the work. The two questions which will receive principal attention are the question of city missions and of church extension. The missions, which are under the auspices of the Baptist Association in St.
Louis, are in a flourishing condition, and so likewise are the churches. There is a great need for more of both, however, and the association will see what can be done in that direction. Between the railroad tracks and Carondet there is only one white Baptist Church, and east of Jefferson avenue and far north as the Water Tower the dearth of Baptist churches is almost as great. The association thinks there would be no difficulty in forming a good new Baptist congregation in the territory mentioned, and an effort will probably be made to supply the needed churches.

Christian Endeavor News.

There will be a union excursion of the St.
Louis Christian Endeavor Societies on the

o'clock in the evening and return at 11 p.m.
Supper will be served on the boat. Tickets will be $1.50 each.

new chapel laid on Sunday, August 25, at 3:30 p.m. Very Rev. F. Brady, V. G., will perform the ceremony in the Archibishop's presence. Prof. P. J. Kelly, and all the members of the Knights of Father Mathew. The route of the parade has not yet been determined, but the corner-stone will be laid by Bishop Neumann to present. An immense crowd is expected to witness the ceremony. The new church is built on the site of the old, which had been intentional fraud.

The Contest Over the Governorship of West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., August 23.—The Legislative Committee on the Gubernatorial contest has begun to read the depositions from Merger and McDowell Counties. These are the two counties that the Democratic contestants alleged were colonized by the Republicans. The pica is on the general grounds that the miners employed there are negroes, that they were not citizens of the State, and that they voted in the election. The other question, that they undoubtedly voted the Republican ticket because, being negroes, it was natural for them to do so. It is now evidently a question of whether the negroes engaged in God-forsaking activities or not.
The negroes have already been thrown out of the election. The committee sent to Washington will be composed of the strongest men who can be selected, and it is also expected that they will be able to get the names of the representatives of the general committee to be named by being appointed on the most important of the various committees.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE DIRECTORS.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Merchant's Exchange, the noon of today, the subject of the reception to be accorded to the visiting delegates to the International American Congress was brought up by Mr. Clegg, who gave the opinion that it should be given in St. Louis. A letter in the name of the St. Louis Merchants' Exchange will be sent to the committee of arrangements for the city's guests to be set on foot.

THE ALABAMA RACE TROUBLES.

Editor Bryant and His Associates Depart
From Selma.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., August 22.—Advices from Selma say that there is apparently quiet as far as any race troubles are concerned. The negro Bryant and his two associate editors have left town and abandoned their paper to the fate of the whites. The people are at work on it to-day. There is talk of firing the office. The negroes of Selma received the news of Riser's murder by the police here with very little agitation.

HAY SWINDLER.

Familiar Confidence Dodge Which Failed in One Instance.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

TAKING his cue from the successful hay
swindles perpetrated in this city a few days ago,
a confidence man attempted to work a similar dodge on G. F. Clemens yesterday afternoon. He first appeared at the furniture store of J. A. 1502 South Broadway, and, representing himself as an agent of Mr. Clemens, contracted to deliver to Alte elevators baled hay and 45 pounds of oats. He then ordered the goods at Clemens'. That is what the request to Mr. Clemens will meet with a favorable response, he no doubt expected.
Accordingly the most influential delegates are strongly attached to St. Louis, and would rather spend their time in that city than in the country.
In my instance, I may mention
Senior Deanda, who occupies under the Mexican Consulate, and the House of Representatives. He visited this city some time ago, and the Mexican government is under contract to a large sum of money for the roads.
We may have no fear that we will not be fairly treated.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

After consulting a number of gentlemen who are interested in the matter concluded that three days were as long as we could ask in this country. The result was that we guess the results of St. Louis.

That the request to Mr. Clemens will meet with a favorable response, he no doubt expected.

MONEY.

New York, August 22, 11 a. m.—The weeks
now in the stock market ended into this-morning, and while London prices are generally higher, our figures, in most cases, were small fractions lower than those quoted in London. There were a few further declines in the early trading, but the general market developed a steady strength and prices slowly rose up again. On St. Louis, the market was the weak spot in the market, and after opening down 4 per cent at 100 it further retired, but a good deal of buying came in as it recovered. The market was feverish and irregular and late in the hour again developed a strong downward movement. At 1 o'clock the market was quiet and unmixed, but a buyer at above $4.60. Speculators had sellers at $4.60.

ATLANTA'S SECRET.

Postmaster Lewis forced out of the Atlanta Rubber Co.

By Telegram to the Post-DISPATCH.

ATLANTA, Ga., August 23.—A sensation was created here yesterday afternoon by the appearance of an article in the Evening Journal with the heading:

GOT RID OF LEWIS.

THE ATLANTA RUBBER CO. MAKES A CHANGE—To KEEP FROM BEING BOYCOTTED POST-

MISTER LEWIS, FORMERLY PRESIDENT OF THE ATLANTA RUBBER CO., ASKED TO SELL OUT AND WITHDRAW.

The article then goes on to say:

"John R. Lewis, Atlanta's Postmaster, is no longer President of the Atlanta Rubber Co. He has been forced out of the firm. Yesterday the following circular was given to the public:

"I undersigned hereby announces that they have this day become sole owners and proprietors of the business and name of the Atlanta Rubber Co., and that we are in receipt of the liberal patronage which this company has heretofore enjoyed. Respectfully,

R. F. COVELL."

Mr. Chase was seen by a reporter to-day and asked why the change in membership of the firm.

"Mr. Covell and myself," he replied, "were formerly part owners of the business with Gen. Lewis. We were compelled to be separated from him because he was President of the company, because he owned a large share of the business. After the Post-office must have been in his hands, he would not let us do what we wanted to do. It was evident that our business was being injured. It was not the fault of Mr. Covell, but it was the fault of Gen. Lewis. We had to remain in the business, and we had to pay to remain in the business except for us to purchase Mr. Lewis' share of the business. The firm remained in existence, but was boycotted on account of the unpopularity of one of its members, and so that member was asked to sell his share of the business and withdraw. We succeeded in getting R. F. Covell to go with Gen. Lewis and he withdrew."

The boycott was the result of Gen. Lewis' own conduct. He was forced to come to the same deck with Miss Lyons, a young lady connected with the best families of Georgia. The subsequent popularity of Gen. Lewis in his appointment of negroes to his appointments, and his appointment of the negro into proximity with the young ladies of Atlanta, was the cause of the force the race issue in its most irritating shape. Many Confederate veterans who respect Lewis and his wife, are shocked at his misfortune to be drawn into politics by designing men who wanted to use him as their catalyst.

THEY MUST BE RECOGNIZED.

A Board Opinion of the Strength of Non-Board Insurance Agents.

Though the members of the St. Louis Board of Fire Underwriters have taken extra precautions to insure their knowledge of their assets coming to them, the knowledge has leaked out. The interesting question just now is the schedule rating of dwelling-house risks. The board was expected to repeat this schedule and leave the agents free to write business on their own judgment. As published in the Post-Dispatch a few days ago the matter was left to the discretion of the agents to take care of themselves, and though final action was not indorsed by the majority of the members present, the board did not act.

On the other hand, there will be a few weeks. It was learned this morning that the subject came up on a proposition to rate on the basis of the rating of the agents. It was remarked that there was no reason why the board should pay any attention to the rating of the non-board agents.

This brought out general discussion, and it was very clear that the statement was not indorsed by the majority of the members present. The board, however, gave emphasis to the position, number and strength of the non-board agents, and the agents were advised to afford to ignore them. They had reached that point where their own books were in dispute, and, failing to agree on a rating, if they did not take notice of the others. Other members made remarks in a similar strain, and considerable feeling was around, so much, in fact, that the board, after a long conference, decided to adopt the residence schedule as it was, to save that the only thing they could do was to secure a postponement of the meeting. The board, however, meantime the other side is gaining strength, and the next meeting, it is expected, will be a very lively one.
